SCHOOL BOARD WON OUT

SUPREME COURT HANDS DOWN OPINION IN THE SMALL- POX CASE.

HONORABLE SAMUEL DAVIS IS REVERSED

Higher Court Holds That Board of Education Has the Right to Compel Pupils to Be Vaccinated With Vaccine Virus.

The supreme court of Missouri has handed down a decision reversing the judgment of Judge Samuel Davis, of Saline county, sitting for Judge Hoffman here, in favor of J. E. O'Bannon against the Sedalia board of education, and confirming the right of the school board of this city, and all school boards of the state, to make an order requiring all school children to be vaccinated before attending school when smallpox has broken out in the district, or when such a break-out is threatened.

C. E. Yeater represented the board of education, and Barnett & Barnett and C. C. Lawson represented Mr. O'Bannon.

The case was a proceeding by mandamus against the directors of the Sedalia school board.

The petition for the writ was filed in the office of Circuit Clerk C. W. Daugherty on January 19, 1909. On February 1, the defendants filed their joint return, and on the following day the relator, J. E. O'Bannon, filed the reply and the trial was heard before Judge Samuel Davis, of Marshall, who was called to hear the case on account of Judge Louis Hoffman, regular judge, being a brother of one of the defendants.

A judgment was returned in favor of the plaintiff and the alternative writ was made absolute.

With the supreme court's reversal and remanding was a decree denying the alternative writ.

The controversy in the case arose over an order, made by the school board on December 14, 1908, requiring all children attending school to be vaccinated within thirty days, by reason of the prevalence of smallpox in the district; and the further orders of January 8 and January 12, 1909, requiring the physicians' certificates, stating that the child had been vaccinated with vaccine virus, externally.

Mr. O'Bannon instituted the proceeding to compel the readmission of his two children, who had been denied admission to the schools, because they had not complied with the board's edict.

When judgment had been rendered in the Pettis county circuit court in favor of the plaintiff, Mr. Yeater, for the defendant, appealed to the supreme court, and shortly afterward filed a motion to advance the case, which brought it to a hearing about three years earlier than would have been the case had the regular mode of procedure been followed.

A CHASE FOR TOMORROW

The Fox and Wolf Hunters Are Having Royal Good Time.

A telephone message to the Democrat-Sentinel this afternoon from the fox and wolf hunters in camp at Elk Lick Springs, in Saline county, says that everything is in readiness for the big chase that has been arranged for tomorrow.

The rain of the past two days has interfered somewhat with the plans, but there is a good attendance of sportsmen from Pettis, Saline and Cooper counties, together with more than three score of dogs, including some of the best fox hounds in Central Missouri.

Nothing was done last night or today in the way of a chase.

The fishing is good, the "grub" could not be improved upon, and all are having a good time.

Henry Blatterman, of Blatterman & Rowe, is in charge of the commissary, while the cooking is being done by Henry Allen and John Williams.

STOLE A CASH REGISTER

Thieves effected an entrance into the saloon of Cassing & Byard, 109 West Second street, between 2 and 5 o'clock this morning, and, after carrying the cash register to the rear of the building, emptied it of the contents, amounting to $8.

D. W. Byard, one of the proprietors, opened for work at 5 o'clock this morning. He discovered the absence of the cash register. Investigating, he found a rear door open. He then began a search for the register and found it lying on top of a barrel of slop just in the rear of Shock's livery stable.

The theft was reported to the police, but there is no clue to work on.

Wife Murderer Must Hang.

Lawton, Ok., May 25.—John Hopkins, formerly of Kingston, Mo., who was recently convicted of murdering his wife, was refused a new trial today. He will be hanged July 2.

REWARD FOR 'GENE C. OTT

FORMER CITIZEN OF SEDALIA MADE A GOOD FIND IN KANSAS CITY.

HE'S PASSENGER AGENT AT UNION DEPOT

Diamonds, Cash and Notes in Receipt Found by Him Will Result in His Receiving a Handsome Reward.

When Eugene C. Ott, for several years a resident of Sedalia, but now a passenger agent at the Union depot in Kansas City, Mo., picked up a lady's handbag from a seat in the upper waiting room at the depot a week ago, and later threw it carelessly into a drawer in his desk, he was not aware that he was taking chances with a small fortune.

It developed yesterday, says the Kansas City Journal, that the handbag contained a chamois sack with twelve large diamonds, two rings and other jewelry in it, $26 in cash, notes and valuable papers and bank book showing a balance of $40,000 in favor of Mrs. Earnest Milton White, owner of the purse.

Mrs. White, who lives in Philadelphia, boarded an Alton train at the depot a week ago, and before reaching Randolph, Mo., noticed her loss. She telegraphed to the officials at the depot and Mr. Ott at once produced the article. A telegram was dispatched to Mrs. White at the next station. Yesterday she telegraphed the second time and asked the name of the finder, and requested the bag to be expressed to her. The telegram said that the finder would be "liberally rewarded."

On opening the handbag at the station yesterday to verify Mrs. White's description, the contents were found to be as she described them. It was shipped to her Philadelphia address.

LIEUT. POTEET IS HERE

Will Spend Two Months' Furlough in Missouri.

Lieut. Fred Poteet, of the flagship West Virginia, U. S. N., arrived this afternoon from San Francisco, Cal., on a two months' furlough, and will spend a good portion of his time here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Poteet.

Fred is in the best of health, and says he is feeling fine. That he will enjoy his visit to the fullest in the home of his boyhood is assured.

Lieut. Poteet traveled from Frisco to Kansas City in the company of Admiral Swineburn and wife, who are en route to Washington, D. C.

BURIAL OF C. A. DONOHUE

Services at St. Patrick's Church by Rev. Fr. McNamee.

The funeral of Charles A. Donohue, who died Sunday evening, was conducted by the Rev. Fr. B. R. McNamee at St. Patrick's Catholic church at 9 o'clock this morning.

The following were pallbearers: Walter Murphy, Will Roach, John McGinnis, Charles Dohel, Waldo King and Mike Maroney.

There were some beautiful floral offerings, and a large assemblage of friends attended the services. Burial was in Crown Hill cemetery.

M'CLELLAN SELLS OUT

BOOKS, STATIONERY AND WALL-PAPER STORE GOES TO MR.
ARTHUR R. SCOTT.

THE TWO STORES ARE TO BE CONSOLIDATED

Scott Stock to Be Moved to the McClellan Stand—Latter Gentleman Has Not Decided on Future Work.

A business deal that retires one of Sedalia's pioneer merchants and tends to elevate one of the city's youngest business men was consummated this morning. It was the purchase by Arthur Scott, who less than a year ago entered the book and stationery business, succeeding R. A. Dunlap, at 504 Ohio street, of the book and stationery and wall paper store of E. E. McClellan, at 314 Ohio street. Col. James Story made the deal.

Mr. Scott took charge of the McClellan store this morning, and set about at once to remark the stock for quick selling, that he might make room for his other stock. It being his plan to combine both stores into one and locate permanently at the McClellan address, 314 Ohio street.

With this end in view, Mr. Scott will inaugurate a sale tomorrow, announcement of which appears in this issue of the Democrat-Sentinel.

Mr. McClellan, who retires, just recently rounded out twenty years of continuous service in the business he has just sold. His future plans have not matured sufficiently to permit of announcement today, but he will, accompanied by his wife, pay a visit to Long Beach, Cal., where he will definitely decide upon the future.

Mr. McClellan has several flattering offers, he says, from the national committee of the prohibition party, but he would neither confirm nor deny the report that he would "take the stump" in the interest of temperance.

"It is barely possible," he said, "that after once visiting Long Beach I may decide to locate there."

Mr. Scott, who succeeds Mr. McClellan, is a live, energetic young man, and success is bound to be his if the present pace he is setting is maintained.

Keystone in School Building Fell.

was put to work repairing the damage.

Farmer Killed Wife With Hammer. Formosa, Kas., May 25.—Samuel Elyea, a retired farmer, killed his wife early today in Jewell City with a hammer. He has been bordering on insanity for several years, but was not considered dangerous. The murdered woman was his second wife.

The Wrong Street Was Named.

The new $5,000 home for the Sisters of Sacred Heart church is to be erected on Monticau avenue, just south of the church, and not on the site of the present home on West Third street, as stated in the Democrat-Sentinel Monday afternoon and in the Capital Tuesday morning.

FULL WAGES FOR 25,000

FALL RIVER MANUFACTURERS
WAIVE THEIR RIGHT TO REDUCE.

COULD HAVE MADE A CUT OF 5 PER CENT

Last November the Mill Owners' Took Similar Action, Waiving Action to Enforce Cut of About 8 Per Cent.

Fall River, Mass., May 25.—The present rate of wages in the Fall River print cloth mills will be continued during the next six months, the manufacturers having waived their right, under the sliding scale agreement, to make a cut down of about 5 per cent.

The decision was issued last night and affects about 25,000 workers.

Last November similar action was taken by the mill owners when they waived their right to enforce a cut of about 8 per cent.

FIVE LITTLE GIRLS BURNED

Were Participating in School Exercises When Dresses Caught Fire.

Central City, Ky., May 25.—Five little girls, ranging from 6 to 12 years, who took part in the commencement exercises at a private school here last night, were probably fatally burned when the clothes of one of their number caught fire from candles used in the drill, spreading to the dresses of the others.

Several other girls were slightly injured in the ensuing rush, and a panic in the audience was only averted by the coolness of several men, who covered the flaming children with their coats.

SHOOTS WIFE; ENDS LIFE

HUNDREDS WITNESS TRAGEDY
DURING A CIRCUS EXHIBITION IN ILLINOIS.

SHOOTING CAUSES SPECTATORS A PANIC

Mrs. Festus Roberts, Who Elope With Negro, Refused to Return Home With Husband—This Caused the Tragedy.

Marion Ill., May 25.—Festus Roberts, a young farmer of this county, a member of one of the oldest and best known families of this section, shot and mortally wounded his wife and killed himself in a circus crowd last afternoon. The tragedy was witnessed by hundreds and caused a panic.

It was the sequel to family troubles, Roberts and his wife having not lived together since two years ago, at which time she ran away with a negro with whom she had become infatuated.

Roberts met his wife on the circus grounds while the free open-air exhibitions were going on, and calling her aside, talked with her in undertones for several minutes.

She was heard to say: "No, sir, I will not do it. Let me alone and go get you another woman."

Pulling a revolver, he snapped it in her face. As she started to run he shot her in the back of the head. Turning toward his wife, Roberts sent a bullet into his head.

The woman was a daughter of Marshal Boles.

CARLOAD OF EGGS SMASHED

Collision in Front of the M., K. & T. Passenger Station.

An M., K. & T. merchandise car loaded with cases of eggs and an empty car of the same road were completely overturned on the main line tracks, in front of the M., K. & T. passenger station in this city, at 3 o'clock this morning.

The company wrecking outfit, in charge of Foreman Bryan, was put to work replacing the cars, completing the task six hours later.

The car load of eggs was making a running switch on the main line track just south of Third street. An empty car, standing near Fourth street, decided to go in the opposite direction. The two cars met in front of the station, the car of eggs falling onto the platform and the empty car onto the sidetracks.

Glen Woods to Wed in June.

Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Lyle of Kansas City, announce the engagement of their daughter, Dorothy, to Mr. Glen H. Woods, of St. Louis. The wedding will take place the latter part of June. Mr. Woods is a son of Mrs. Richard C. Woods, of Sedalia, and was formerly director of music in the public schools here.

Four Miners Killed Near Joplin.

Joplin, Mo., May 25.—Four miners were killed by a falling rock in the Coshulla mine, at Porto Rico, near here, this afternoon. The dead are: Albert Ross, Charles Green, a man named Hayes and one unknown man.

PRIEST WAS ARRESTED

IN LOUISIANA SUNDAY MORNING WHILE IN ACT OF SAYING MASS.

CHARGE AGAINST HIM, IS CRIMINAL LIBEL

Declines at First to Make Bond, but Friends Induce Him to Seek Release—An Editor Responsible for the Arrest.

Plaquemine, La., May 25.—As he was saying mass, Fr. J. J. Holtgreve, rector of St. John's Catholic church, was arrested Sunday morning, charged with criminal libel.

The officer, at the priest's request, allowed the holy man to attire himself in street garb, after which he was taken to the court house.

A special session of court was held and the priest was offered the benefit of bail. He at first refused to take advantage of bail, saying: "In a case like this I would be proud to go to jail."

His friends, however, prevailed upon him to give bond.

The trouble grew out of an article published in the Daily Champion, supposedly emanating from the priest, charging that an excessive amount had been paid to the Iberville South, another local paper, for the public printing, Charles E. Schwing, editor of the South, filed the charges.

GAVE A CONCERT LAST NIGHT

Native of China at the First Methodist Church.

The concert at the First M. E. church, last night, under the auspices of the Epworth League, was well attended and enjoyed by all.

Charles K. Johnson, a native of Mankin, China, who has graduated from the Simpson Conservatory of Music, of Indianapolis, Iowa, rendered several highly creditable numbers. Mr. Johnson has a very fine baritone voice. He speaks five different languages, and goes to Mankin in a very short time to take charge of the conservatory department of the Mankin college.

Miss Jewell Harter, Miss Ernst and Miss Johnson also assisted in the concert.

The league made a neat little sum of money to apply to their missionary fund for this year.

ASSAULT ON A "SENIOR"

It Is Laid at the Door of Member of the Junior Class.

Vern McNeil, a member of the 1909 graduating class of the Sedalia High school, was painfully injured while in the rear of Rembaugh's bakery, on East Sixth street, last night, by being assaulted, it is alleged, by a member of the junior class.

He was struck on the right side of his face with a hard substance, presumably a rock, sustaining a one-inch deep laceration.

He was attended at the M., K. & T. railway hospital.

TIE UP IS COMPLETE

Necessities of Life Lacking in Georgia as Result of Strike.

Atlanta, Ga., May 25.—The delivery of some necessities of life has stopped in several small Georgia towns, owing to the complete tie-up of the Georgia railroad as the result of the strike of white firemen. Not a train is running today.

THREE "RATES" TODAY

THE CHOICE OF 2, 2½ OR 3 CENT FARE NOW OFFERED BY STATE LINES.

AGENTS "UP IN THE AIR" IN MANY RESPECTS

Passenger Officials Declare They Cannot Foretell Prices From Day to Day—Don't Know What Outcome Will Be.

St. Louis, Mo., May 25.—St. Louis railroad passenger agents declare they are "up in the air" about rates, as they don't know one day what rates will be effective the next.

Beginning today, the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railroad restored the 3-cents-a-mile rate for passenger travel in Missouri. The Santa Fe railroad, which has no lines running into St. Louis, is expected also to restore the 3-cent passenger rate.

Travelers going out of St. Louis on Missouri lines thus get a variety of rates today and may travel at 2 or 2½ or 3 cents a mile.

The Burlington and Frisco lines will adhere to the 2½ cent rate, which they established several weeks ago, while the Missouri Pacific, Iron Mountain and Wabash railroads, all Gould lines, will maintain the 2-cent rate until the litigation over the 2-cent passenger rate law is ended.

The Katy has instructed its local agents to charge 3 cents a mile for tickets to Missouri points, beginning today.

General Passenger Agent St. George said to a reporter Monday:

"I know of no injunction against the Katy restraining it from putting the 3-cent rate into effect. Judge McPherson dissolved the injunction issued by the circuit court here. We have instructed all our agents to sell tickets in Missouri at 3 cents a mile, and this rate will continue indefinitely."

"The Katy is acting independently in this matter. We are charged by Attorney General Major with being in a conspiracy to establish an unlawful rate, but this road has acted independently of the other Missouri lines in the rate controversy. We do not know what the other roads are going to do in the matter of restoring the 3-cents-a-mile rate."

The Katy is a competitor with the Missouri Pacific to some points in Missouri, but most of its stations are reached by its own lines only.

Mr. St. George said he did not know what effect the 3-cent rate will have on business to the points reached by other roads charging 2 cents a mile.

The memorial day committee reported everything in readiness for the memorial services to be held on June 13th.

OPENING IS POSTPONED

That of the Country Club Until Wednesday Night.

The formal opening of the Sedalia Country club, to have taken place tonight, has been postponed until Wednesday night, when the original program will be carried out.

The postponement is made because of the unsettled weather, the High school class day exercises and at the request of a number of the club members.

THE WEATHER FORECAST.
Showers and cooler tonight; Wednesday partly cloudy.

COMING HOME?
Back to Sedalia, the beautiful Queen City, and visit again the scenes of years gone by.

The Home Coming reunion will be held October 2, 3, 4 and 5, during the week of the Missouri state fair.

The semi-centennial of the founding of the city will be celebrated, and a grand welcome will be extended to all who gather to commemorate the event.

There are ex-Sedalians everywhere, but they will all be here again at the Home Coming.

MAKE THEM MOVE ON.
The Democrat-Sentinel today publishes a communication signed "Citizen," calling attention to and protesting against the crowds of loafers who congregate at certain places on Ohio street every night, interfering with pedestrians and ogling ladies who pass.

In front of the Smoke House this nuisance has become intolerable, the evil growing to such an extent that decent women, whether accompanied or unaccompanied, dread to pass along the street for fear some rough jest at their expense or deliberate insult will be thrown at them.

Here young boys and men congregate nightly, smoking cigarettes, chewing tobacco and expectorating on the walk, with, it would seem, the "praiseworthy" ambition of seeing who can create the largest puddle, through which ladies must drag their skirts.

Obscene remarks, coarse jokes, silly laughter, profanity and fool actions generally make the location a menagerie where are displayed to the public gaze an accretion of as gross headed, insensate and puerile male humans as were ever gathered together.

The police should put a stop to the nuisance and keep these addlepated gentry on the move, if they insist on making exhibitions of themselves.

HOW COMMISSION GOVERNMENT IS OBTAINED.
Colorado Springs recently adopted the commission form of government. Although a number of other cities in Colorado are now preparing to institute similar changes, Colorado Springs is the first in that commonwealth to discard the ward system for concentrated and responsible authority in municipal affairs. It is a part of the comment on the reformation of Colorado Springs government that the new charter comes as a result of a movement advocated by the press and supported by the chamber of commerce and other civic bodies.

The charter itself was drawn by twenty-one representative citizens, nominated by a joint committee from the civic organizations. That the people had full confidence in the persons who directed the educational campaign in favor of commission government, and to whom was committed the responsibility of drawing up the charter, as well as the principles of the plan itself, is shown by the heavy vote by which it was adopted. Only 263 voters cast their ballots against the new charter, while 3,161 declared in its favor.

The history of commission government in Colorado Springs is that of most cities where it has been adopted in recent years. There has been opposition at the outset, especially by those who are entrenched in public power, but when it came to a final test the people deserted the politicians and gave their support to a proposal which offered the promise of extensive improvement and economy in the conduct of municipal affairs. It is also true in other cities, as in Colorado Springs, that the movement had its inception in the newspapers, and that it was then taken up and pushed by business and civic organizations.

They are recognized as the practical and effective methods for placing vital questions of public policy before a city where ordinary channels are closed or inoperative. Whether general consideration of commission government is taken up in Sedalia and its merits investigated will depend upon what is done by business or other organizations. The first step has been taken by the Democrat-Sentinel by its presentation of information on the subject and discussion of the same through its columns.

We believe the people expect an organized movement of some kind looking to the further presentation of the question here. It will never be done by men who see nothing but politics in every move they make. It will only be done by men who look to good government without regard to politics.

SHOULD THE UNITED STATES TAKE THE LEAD?

The Lake Mohonk peace conference, an annual gathering so persistent in its efforts as to command attention, has adjourned this year's meeting by formally requesting the government of the United States to take the initiative in an attempt to curtail the international strife for naval supremacy and to place a limit upon armaments.

It is a coincidence worthy of note that shortly before his retirement as secretary of state, Senator Root, in correspondence with Russia regarding the peace movement, held that this country might, under certain circumstances, properly assume leadership in the plan to check militarism. In speaking of the relations of Americans to the reduction of armaments, Mr. Root said that it would become them to be insistent or forward in a matter so much more vital to the nations of Europe than to them. Nevertheless, it sometimes happens that the very absence of special interest in a subject enables a nation to make suggestions and urge considerations that a more deeply interested nation might hesitate to present.

The force of this comment on the international situation will be recognized. It is impracticable for reasons of self-interest for Great Britain, Germany or France to officially suggest a reduction or limitation of armaments. Because of the delicate adjustment of power in Europe and the tendency of one nation to seize the slightest opportunity for strengthening its position at the expense of some other, a move of such vast importance might be interpreted as a sign of weakness or as prompted by a move to gain some advantage not clearly apparent, by the instrument of diplomacy.

Still, the first step toward terminating naval competition must be taken by one of the great world powers in order to secure serious consideration of the proposal.

With England recovering from apprehension at her staggering military budget and preparing to go on in the heavy development of her navy, France determined to build enough battleships to hold fourth place as a naval power, and with Germany, Japan and the United States straining their financial resources to lay down the most dreadnaughts, it would seem to be an opportune time for this country to intimate its willingness to treat with the powers of the world for a reduction of armaments, or an agreement to retain the naval status quo.

FORT WORTH'S CHIEF ASSET.

There are doing things in Fort Worth, Texas, since that city adopted the commission form of government. Pure artesian water, better and cleaner streets, and better results at far less cost than under the old system, are some of the features which W. A. Stewart, of Fort Worth, who is at the Kupper hotel, says have resulted from the new idea in municipal rule.

"Fort Worth no longer uses river water for domestic purposes, and the revival of municipal improvements is very noticeable since the commissioners took charge," Mr. Stewart said. "Those who were the most vigorous in the opposition in the campaign for its adoption are now its most earnest advocates. There are so many points in its favor it is surprising to us to see other cities outside of Texas reluctant in adopting the commission form. The larger the city the more satisfactory it proves. And not a city that has tried it would return to the old system under any conditions."—Kansas City Star.

There are people in Tacoma, Wash., who believe that regard for relics of the past has been carried too far by the local historical society, which has expended nearly $2,000 to buy a rusted boiler and a mass of decayed machinery, taken from the steamer Beaver, the first to make the voyage around the Horn from New York. It is proposed to place this junk on a pedestal in Totem Pole park, but the business men located near the park propose to take the matter to the

So much is said in the way of condemning American railroads for alleged recklessness in regard to human life that when testimony to the contrary is given there should be proper credit. The Pennsylvania railroad assuredly has a remarkable record in this respect. The annual report shows that during the last year 141,659,542 passengers were carried, of whom not one was killed and only 102 were injured. The contention that, considering the proportion of casualties, traveling by rail is about the safest means of transit, seems to have much support.

The city of Richmond, Va., is getting ready to expend $150,000,000 for betterments. A million dollars is to be expended for sewerage and the balance is to be used for high school purposes and other municipal improvements. For all of these a bond issue is proposed. It would seem as if Richmond might provide for some of these things out of her current revenues. But then, there is much room for improvement in the government of most of our municipalities.

HIS TALK VERY EDIFYING.

Minister's Parrot Guides an Old Lady's Perverse Bird Into More Decent Speech.

Rev. Philip C. Fletcher, the most eloquent and popular of St. Louis' younger clergymen, was discussing the other day the sermon wherein he said he saw no harm in cosmetics.

"What I meant in that sermon," said Mr. Fletcher, smiling, "was that a woman owed it to herself to make the most of her looks. According to some people, I advised every woman to lay on powder and paint with a towel. I would never think of giving such advice, of course. Such advice, coming from the pulpit, would have a strange sound—as strange a sound as the talk of the minister's parrot.

"A certain minister, you know, called on an old lady, and found a new parrot in her parlor. This parrot kept saying every little while:

"I wish the old girl would die!"

"The minister turned his head to conceal a smile.

"But I think I can set this matter right for you, dear madam," he said. "I, too, have a parrot, as you know. It is a very honest bird. Its talk is very edifying. I'll send it here; and it will soon guide your own parrot into decent speech."

"He sent on his parrot that evening. The grateful old lady put the birds side by side. Then, with a pleased smile, she prepared to listen to their conversation.

"I wish the old girl would die," said the parrot host.

"And the guest rolled his eyes and exclaimed solemnly:

"We beseech Thee to hear us, good Lord!"

This affidavit was filed in court of common pleas in Dublin in 1822: "And this deponent further saith, that on arriving at the home of the said defendant for the purpose of personally serving him with the said writ, he, the said deponent, knocked three several times at the outer, commonly called the hall door, but could not obtain admittance; whereupon this deponent was proceeding to knock a fourth time, when a man, to this deponent unknown, holding in his hands a musket or blunderbuss, loaded with balls or slugs, as this deponent has since heard and verily believes, appeared at one of the upper windows of the said house, and presenting said musket or blunderbuss at this deponent, threatened that if said deponent did not instantly retire, he would send his (the deponent's) soul to hell, which this deponent verily believes he would have done, had not this deponent precipitately escaped."

Theater Folk Are Superstitious.

Theatrical people are proverbially superstitious. I know of one great actress who never goes on the stage without first crossing herself to insure good luck. Some of our greatest stars would perhaps retire from the stage if they should lose the horseshoe which is nailed to the lid of one of their trunks, and could not get another. Mrs. Leslie Carter always raps three times on the wings before walking on the stage, and she thinks this precaution will banish all evil influences. When Mary Anderson was on the stage she never dared to peep through the curtain while the house was filling. Many theatrical people constantly carry around with them for luck "the left hind foot of a graveyard rabbit killed by the light of the moon."

Editor Democrat-Sentinel.

What's the matter with our police service? Would like to know why our officers do not prevent habitual corner loungers from hanging around the doorways and show windows of our several stores along Ohio and other prominent streets.

No respectable ladies will ever glance at an attractive display of merchandise when a dozen or more of these "street flowers" are hanging about them, whose actions and remarks are too often insulting.

It's a public nuisance in the eyes of every business man, and prompt action on the part of our officers in stopping this will have the hearty approval of every business interest in this district.—Citizen.

Buried Treasures in Morocco.

In Morocco it is customary for a man to bury most of his riches in a place known only to himself. This custom is practiced by all Moors, for they cannot trust their own family, who would murder them directly it was known where the money was.

At the death of the head of a family in Morocco digging operations commence at once, but seldom is the money discovered. There must be many fortunes buried away in odd corners of the country. An instance came under the writer's notice at one of the coast towns. During the demolition of a house a considerable sum of money was found built into the wall.

Translated Into English.

Every one has heard the story of the Englishman who was told, when asking what was done with all the superfluous fruit grown in California—"We eat what we can, and what we can't we can."

The joke was told to another Englishman, who received it with rather a sickly smile, and upon his return home gave his own version of it.

"Queer people, those Americans," he said. "Peculiar sense of humor. They told me as one of their choice jokes that when asked what they did with their fruit that was left over, they answered that 'They ate what they could and what they couldn't they could.'"

San Juan, Porto Rico, May 25.—Joaquin Beltrero, editor of a weekly paper given over to the publication of caricatures, and called El Carnival, was arrested here yesterday by the federal authorities, charged with sending improper matter through the mails.

The charge is based on a cartoon of President Taft and a reference to his recent message on Porto Rico. Beltrero was held in $5,000 bail.

SCIENCE SETTLES IT.

Dandruff is Caused by a Germ That Saps the Hair's Vitality.

It is now a settled fact that dandruff is caused by a germ. Falling hair and baldness are the result of dandruff. Dr. E. J. Beardsley, of Champaign, Ill., got hold of the new hair preparation, Newbro's Herpicide—the only one that kills the dandruff germ. He says: "I used Herpicide for my dandruff and falling hair, and I am well satisfied with the result." Dr. J. T. Fugate, of Urbana, Ill., says: "I have used Herpicide for dandruff with excellent results. I shall prescribe it in my practice." Herpicide kills the dandruff germ. Physicians as well as the general public say so. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

TO CURB COCAINE CURSE

CONGRESS ASKED TO SEE THAT AMERICAN HOMES ARE PROTECTED.

THE EVIL IS GROWING IN ALL THE CITIES

High Tariff on the Deadly Drug Is Demanded—Uncle Sam Should Control the Traffic in Interest of Humanity

Special to the Democrat-Sentinel

New York, May 25.—Calling upon congress for a form of tariff protection that will guard all American homes from the ravages of the cocaine habit, thousands of medical men philanthropic workers and the principal drug houses in this city are today supporting the recommendation of the American Health league for federal control of the deadly drug.

Only by placing a prohibitory duty upon the foreign cocaine with which the illegal distributors are now supplied in defiance of all state laws can the growth of drug dives throughout the country be checked, the leaders of the movement declare.

From every section of the land reports have been received today showing that the people are ready to demand of their representatives in Washington this relief from the vice and crime that is spreading unchecked with the free supply of cocaine from abroad.

Only 50 per cent of all the cocaine consumed in the United States last year was devoted to legitimate uses, experts are prepared to show congress while the other half of the total sales of this drug was covertly supplied to the dens of the "dope fiend" which are rapidly increasing.

While the American manufacturers and wholesalers are refusing to pander to the increasing demands of the illicit cocaine distributors and can be held accountable by state and local authorities for their sales, absolutely no hold can be taken on the underground supply of the drug from abroad, it is shown. Coca leaves from which the drug victims may extract a form of cocaine with which to meet their craving are now free of duty and easily available, it is also pointed out.

Backed by philanthropic organizations and individuals throughout the country, the leaders of this movement have already presented to the finance committee of the senate at Washington the people's claims for protection against the inroads of the cocaine curse. A prohibitory tariff of $1.50 an ounce on the foreign supply of the drug is being urged as well as a duty of 5 cents a pound on the coca leaves which will give Uncle Sam a hold upon their distribution.

It is also proposed to place an internal revenue tax upon this drug and require its manufacturers to be bonded and licensed by the government. The placing of a special revenue stamp upon every package of cocaine, with the record required to be kept of its quantity and purchaser, the authorities declare, will result in the speedy restriction of the illegal traffic in the drug.

That the senate leaders have up to this time refused to consider their claims, on the ground that they were "not concerned with the nation's morals," was asserted today by leaders of this crusade against the cocaine evil. When the people of every part of the country are alive to this chance to check the spreading drug plague, however, every one of their representatives at Washington will be urged to immediate consideration, it is believed.

HEADLINES COST A JOB

RECONSIDERED, MR. TAFT DID, WHEN PAPERS SAID HE WAS "HEDGING."

MUST NOT RUB IT IN ON "UNCLE BILL"

Elmer Dover, Former Secretary of Republican National Committee, Loses a $12,000 Per Annum Appointment.

Washington, May 25.—"Taft Lines Up With the Old Guard," "Hanna's Man Gets Taft's Best Plum," and other such newspaper headlines have cost Elmer Dover, former secretary of the republican national committee, $6,000, and possibly $12,000 a year for an indefinite number of years.

Such is the effect of President Taft's revocation of the appointment of Dover as national bank examiner at New York. Dover was affiliated with the old republican machine in Ohio, and rose to political prominence in Hanna's day.

He sympathized with Foraker's campaign for the Ohio delegation to the Chicago convention. Accordingly, his connection with the national committee ended when Frank Hitchcock became the chairman.

When the announcement was made that the president proposed to hand Dover one of the best places in his gift it was interpreted in the Ohio newspapers as a blow at Hitchcock, and a turn-down for Senator Burton and the new Ohio crowd, which gave Taft the Ohio delegation. Whereupon the president reconsidered.

It is now said Dover, nevertheless, will get a job, but it will be a $5,000 or $6,000 proposition instead of a $12,000 affair.

WINDMILL MADE INTO CHURCH

Novel House of God That Serves for Small Congregation in England.

Twelve years ago, when the villagers living off the border of Reigate Heath, Surrey, England, had no place of worship nearer than the parish church, a service was held in a school-room close by and was so well attended that the authorities looked around for a suitable permanent building.

The erection of a church was out of the question, but there stood on the heath the remains of an old mill, a picturesque feature in a beautiful bit of landscape. Inspection showed that once the rats were got rid of a comparatively small outlay would furnish and render the mill fit for public worship, and soon it was opened as the Chapel of the Holy Cross.

The interior of the chapel arouses interest. Four buttresses, four feet thick by six feet in height, serve as rests for two massive beams which cross each other in the center and support an upright shaft cracked with age and strongly bound with iron bands. The buttresses make four natural alcoves. The entrance door stands in one, and immediately opposite is the altar; the harmonium is placed in a third, and the bellringer sits close beside it and rings his bell; the fourth is occupied by the congregation. The rent of this novel church is only 25 cents a year.

THE PRISONER DOES NOT DENY HIS GUILT

Brothers-in-Law Became Foes in Kennett, Mo., Because of Testimony for Girl—Second Killing Has Resulted.

Leachville, Ark., May 25.—Charles Champ, 19 years old, was arrested near here last night by Deputies Ferguson and Jollick, of Manila, Ark., charged with killing Henry Culp at Europa, Mo., Sunday night.

Young Champ entered a crowded church and fired two shots into the back of Culp, killing him instantly. In the midst of the confusion that immediately ensued the boy made his escape, taking the train for Arkansas and getting off somewhere in this country.

Champ was taken to Manila and placed in jail. He will be turned over to the Missouri authorities, they having been notified of his arrest, and wiring that they would come for the prisoner.

He does not deny his identity or guilt and will go back without requisition.

Henry Culp was a prosperous young farmer, who had married Champ's sister.

Champ and his brother, Henry, were under indictment on a charge made by a girl. Culp was a witness against them at their preliminary examination.

Last summer the Champ brothers went to Culp's house and drove him away from home with pistols.

A few days later, during the primary election, at Sentah, Culp shot and killed Henry Champ. He was prosecuted, but acquitted at Kennett, Mo.

At the present May term of circuit court, Charlie Champ was convicted of the charge made by the girl. He had appealed the case and was out on bond.

Both families are influential in Dunklin county.

After the trouble between her husband and brothers last summer, the wife of Henry Culp sued for divorce and the decree was granted.

MADE UP ANOTHER PACKAGE.

Congressman Had Misunderstood Friend's Embarrassed Allusions to Father-in-Law.

A prominent member of congress, who is a teetotaler, but who usually keeps a little scrumptious and ancient whisky on hand to distribute at irregular intervals to his friends, stopped one of these friends—who happens to be one of the best-known employees at the capitol—in a corridor the other day.

"Better come around," said the congressman, "for I've just received a case of the same old stuff. Mighty old and fine—better come."

The friend looked real cheerful for a moment, but then his face attained repose again and he hesitated.

"Well—er—" said he, "I'm much obliged, but father-in-law is visiting me and—er—I—"

"Oh, never mind that," said the member, "just you come along and bring father-in-law, too. I'll wrap up the package so he'll never know it is whisky."

"But," said the friend, "I wasn't think—"

"Hush," said the member, "do as I tell you. You bring father-in-law, if you can't get out without bringing him, and he'll never know what's in the package."

And the member blew away, leaving the friend biting his lips and looking foolish.

On the appointed evening friend and father-in-law arrived on time—the father-in-law a distinguished looking gentleman of the old school, reserved and dignified to a degree. Finally, after they had chatted for a little while the congressman had begun to wonder, after gazing at the father-in-law, whether he had really wrapped up the whisky in sufficient of a disguise, father-in-law opened his mouth and spoke.

"James," said he to the friend, his son-in-law, "I beg to remind you that it is getting late and that we have an engagement. I dislike to hasten you but I would suggest that we take the whisky and go."

Whereupon the member, who had misunderstood and misinterpreted the friend's suggestion about "father-in-law being in town," laughed until he cried and then trotted upstairs and made it two packages instead of one.

"By gracious," said he the next day at the capitol, "the whole blamed family is thirsty."

Friendly Fish.

A keeper in the aquarium is sure that fishes know their friends just as much as other animals, and his long association with them has led him to become as fond of his finny pets as another man would be of a horse or a dog. One fish in particular seems to him to be more intelligent than the rest. It is of the box variety, triangular in form, and it has passed five years in captivity since it arrived from Bermuda. To see how well it knows the keeper it is necessary to go behind the tanks with him over the water. The fish answers to the name Peter, and when the keeper calls, "Peter, Peter, come and kiss me," it comes up to the surface of the water and puts its face close to his. He can tell whether it is feeling well, and often gives medicine or a tonic to his finny friend. "I used to have an earth worm as a pet," he said, "and when I went to the box where it lived and tapped on the side it would raise its head to mine and know I was there. It never was afraid, and I felt that it had come to know me and to like me."—New York Press.

Senator Presides at Town Meeting. Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts found time from his duties at Washington to run up to Nahant last week and preside as moderator at the annual town meeting. "It is to be hoped," says the Springfield Republican, "that he will keep up the custom as long as he lives, even if he has to make special trips from Washington. The influence of his example cannot fail to be most excellent, since the spectacle of so distinguished a statesman, whose range is national and world-wide, displaying a local patriotism of this sort must help to maintain the essential dignity of our local institutions."

OKLAHOMA FLOOD SPREAD

Waters Still Rising and Reports Show Thousands of Damage to Crops.

Muskogee, Ok., May 25.—All streams in Northern and Eastern Oklahoma are still rising today, and the waters are spreading out and enlarging the flooded districts. No rain has fallen since midnight and as the sun is shining today it is thought the water will soon begin to recede.

No deaths in addition to the five noted last night are reported. The Arkansas river has alone inundated and probably ruined thousands of acres of potatoes, corn and other crops.

Remained a Major.

A newspaper man once asked the late J. K. Hudson whether he should call him "major" or "general." Hudson was a major in the civil war and was made a brigadier general in the Spanish war, but in the latter conflict he did not get into active service. "Call me major," said Hudson in reply to the question. "I was vaccinated for 'general,' but it didn't take."

A True Incident That Merits Publication.

YESTERDAY a prominent woman from Missouri's largest city, who formerly lived in Sedalia, came into the store in response to our advertisement which appeared in Sunday's papers telling of our enormous suit reductions in effect here this week. Having proven the truthfulness of our advertisements from past experiences, she came from the big city which is now her home, and purchased her suit here. "When I saw your advertisement and this big reduction you were making I decided that I could save my railway fare BOTH WAYS, get better values than anywhere else I had looked at home, and still have the pleasure of a visit in Sedalia with old friends," is the way she put it, and it was true. She was delighted with her purchase in every respect, as many others are who come from the nearby large cities to the store almost daily.

ROMANCE IN SCOTCH HISTORY.

Curse Pronounced by Mother of Great Soldier Seemed to Have Adequate Fulfillment.

The widow of the great Viscount Dundee married shortly after his death William Livingston of Kilsyth, who had long been in love with her. Dundee's mother, who considered Livingston virtually her son's murderer, pronounced a curse on her daughter-in-law and her husband, praying that God would show the unworthy couple some swift token of his anger. The wedding day of Livingston and Lady Dundee was fraught with bad omens. The bridegroom gave the bride a ring inscribed, "Yours Till Death," but the ring was lost before the day was over, and the vengeful old Lady Dundee sent as her wedding gift a nightcap, a pair of white gloves and a rope, all these articles typical of a condemned murderer. In October, 1695, it seemed as though the unhappy fate so desired by Lady Dundee fell on her daughter-in-law, who died at Utrecht through a terrible accident. She, her infant son, and her maid were crushed to death through the roof falling in, her husband being rescued with great difficulty. The bodies of Lady Kilsyth and her baby were embalmed and brought to Scotland, and in the year 1800 it was the common practice of the inhabitants of Kilsyth to go to the vault and see the bodies, which were as perfect as the hour they were first placed in the coffin.

ECZEMA CURED IN SIMPLE WAY

No More Dosing the Stomach—Cure Skin Through the Skin.

When you have a scratch on your hand you wash it out and cleanse it and then the skin cures itself.

The best skin specialists today are agreed that the only way to cure the skin is through the skin. For statistics show that nearly all eczema sufferers are perfectly healthy in all other ways except as to their skin.

And if the eczema patients were really suffering from an internal malady, the entire body and not the skin would be diseased.

You can prove immediately the relief of a true skin cure by using oil of wintergreen as compounded in D. D. D. Prescription. This liquid kills the disease germs, while toning up the healthy part of the skin.

We have now handled this meritorious and thoroughly scientific remedy for so long and have seen its reliable results so many times that we freely express our confidence.

Heroic Remedy.

It is the custom in certain parts of Scotland among the women laborers in the field when their backs begin to ache from bending low while working with short-handled hoes, to lie down, their faces upon the ground, and allow others to step upon the lower part of the backs with one foot several times. This operation is known as "straightening the back."

Queer Freak of Nature.

A picture of a young and beautiful woman, attired in the latest fashion, is the freak of nature that William Stevenson, living on one of Joseph J. White's cranberry bogs, near Hanover, N. J., has found in an ordinary egg. He is at a loss to account for the presence of the picture in the egg, and all the scientists consulted thus far have failed to give any explanation.

MR. H. B. KOOSEN SELECTED FOR THE HELM OF GOULD REFRIGERATOR LINES.

COACH CAB AND CABOOSE ITEMS

Matters of Interest Picked Up From Various Sources For the Benefit of Democrat-Sentinel Readers.

C. S. Clarke, vice president of the Missouri Pacific-Iron Mountain, issued a circular yesterday as president of the American Refrigerator Transit company, which is controlled by the Gould lines, announcing the appointment of H. B. Koosen as general manager of the Transit company, says today's St. Louis Globe-Democrat. He succeeds C. H. Holdridge, who has resigned to take service with another company.

Mr. Koosen's headquarters will be in St. Louis and he will enter upon his new duties June 1. He is at present assistant general freight agent of the Missouri Pacific at Omaha and for many years was located at Denver and Salt Lake as freight traffic representative of the Gould lines.

Mr. Koosen is a son-in-law of former Vice President C. G. Warner, of the Missouri Pacific, who retired a few years since on account of ill health. The appointment will give general satisfaction in traffic circles.

Concessions Granted Shipmen.

Vice President Potter Monday afternoon met the committee of machinists from various points on the Baltimore & Ohio system outside of Baltimore.

The committee asked that men who had been employed at the Mount Claire shops since the trouble began two weeks ago be dismissed, and that the men who left the service then be reinstated.

Mr. Potter made a counter proposition that no more new men would be hired and the old men would be taken back into the service as opportunity offered. Some have been in service for many years and some will soon be eligible for pension.

Mr. Potter was willing to permit the men to be taken back to retain their service record so they would not lose those benefits.

GIRL FEARED FOR HER LIFE

Slayer of Ex-Alderman Says He Shot to Save Frances Sands.

Marshall, Mo., May 25.—Miss Frances Sands, aged 18 years, expresses her belief that the fatal shooting of former Alderman John E. Spangler here last Friday night was an incident in a series of attempts to lure her into the darkness to kill her.

She bases her assertion on an incident which occurred a week ago Saturday night, when she says she was seized and dragged into the shadow of a building by a man who brandished a knife and threatened, she says, to drive it into her heart. "I believe," she said, "that the man who came to my rooming house the other night and said that my mother was sick would have taken my life if I had gone out alone."

Miss Sand's story is corroborated by J. W. Goforo, who shot Spangler and who is proprietor of the City hotel, where Miss Sands rooms.

Goforo is in jail at Mexico, where he was removed Saturday night, after threats of lynching were said to have been made by friends of Spangler.

Not Born to Die by Accident.

James Kreiger, aged 15 years, of Shamokin, Pa., tumbled down a 200-foot mine shaft until he struck a projecting post 50 feet from the surface. He clung to it, when a rope was lowered and he was hauled to the surface, with only a few bruises.

There Are Others.

SALOON THOUGHT NO. 152.

You often hear people say, "I have been in Oklahoma, and there is more drunkenness there than there is where liquor is sold in saloons. Here are some interesting figures that prove this to be all foolish talk. It is silly to say that where they have to sell it against the law that as much will be sold as where it is a legal sale."

Prohibition has reduced drunkenness more than fifty per cent in that portion of the state where open saloons formerly existed. This is proved by the following police records for the nine months immediately prior to prohibition and the nine months immediately following the adoption of prohibition. The figures for the period immediately prior to prohibition are given under the first column and the figures for the first nine months after prohibition are given under the second column:

GERTRUDE WOLFF MISSING

German Girl Who Promised to Leave Minister's Home Is Gone.

St. Louis, May 25.—Gertrude Wolff, the pretty German girl, whose written promise to surrender her children, leave the home of the Rev. F. G. Schenk, of St. Louis, Mo., forever, and return to her home in Konigsburg, revealed a strange situation in Pastor Schenk's domestic life, is missing, and those who know the girl believe she has absconded with her promise.

Miss Wolff was not provided with funds. Her passage back to her parents' home was to have been paid by Dr. A. Siebert. Dr. Siebert says that he has not heard from her and that no application for money had been made to him, although Miss Wolff left the Rev. Louis Sudemeyer's home at Hermann, where she had been given shelter, Saturday, taking a train for St. Louis.

Her friends in this city have not seen her and they say they do not know where she is stopping. She had spoken of going to Chicago, and had spent some time in Cleveland, O.

It is likely, some of her friends think, that she has obtained money enough to enable her to reach one of those cities, and that she will remain in America with the hope of regaining her children later.

Blessings of a Diet.

Nowadays it's a godsend for a man to get rheumatism. Instead of filling him up with salicylic acid, iodine or potash and other atrocities to tear out his insides, intelligent physicians put him on a diet. When they cure him of being a hog they cure him of his rheumatism and everything else from a murderous liver to the disposition of a fiend.—New York Press.

Division of Life's Needs.

When kneading their dough the Macedonian housewives sign it with the sign of the cross before dividing it into loaves and later the same sign is made with the knife before cutting the individual loaf, while the crumbs that fall from the good man's table are religiously given to the ever-present beggars at his gate, the hungry little birds.

Sure of Himself.

The opposing candidates resorted to blows. Friends rushed in to separate them. Each struggled to get at the other. Candidate No. 1, seeing the extremely violent efforts of Candidate No. 2, cried out: "More of you men hold Swanson! One man can hold me!"—Everybody's.

To Relieve a Cold.

For cold in the head try inhaling medicated steam, procured by adding half a teaspoonful of friars balsam to a jugful of boiling water. Fold a towel round the mouth of the jug, leaving a small aperture in the center to allow the steam to escape, and take long, deep breaths of it into the lungs.

FRANK GOTCH TO RETIRE

CHAMPION WRESTLER TO QUIT THE GAME, BUT IT IS ONLY TEMPORARILY.

HE WILL SOON UNDERGO AN OPERATION

Does Not Expect to Make Any New Matches for a Year or More—Interview Was Given to the Press Last Evening.

Omaha, May 25.—Frank Gotch, world's champion wrestler, has canceled his match with Hackenschmidt in Melbourne, Australia, for next January, and will quit the wrestling game after June 11, at least temporarily.

Gotch gave out an interview last night in which he stated that he would undergo an operation on the nose about the middle of June to remove a growth which resulted from an injury received many years ago while playing ball.

The injury has been aggravated the past two years by a catarrhal affection which became almost acute during his trip to England. He has consulted physicians who have advised him to have an operation performed on his nose before the trouble becomes more serious.

Gotch has matches in Sioux City, Des Moines and Minneapolis and after filling these dates he will go directly to Minneapolis for treatment. Two operations will be necessary, one on each side of the nose. The champion does not expect to make any new matches for a year or more.

DEFENSE IS NOW ON

"Adam God's" Attorneys Will Claim That He Is Insane From Religion.

Kansas City, Mo., May 25.—Smiles and elation was on the face of James Sharp, self-styled "Adam God," when his defense began today in his trial for the murder of a policeman in a religious riot that he created here.

In an affable mood Sharp whispered almost continually to his attorneys during court, while at recess he flitted about the room with a friendly word for all.

Sharp's defense is insanity. In opening the case counsel for the defense related how Sharp, in response to "a small voice which told him he was God," had sold his farm near Woodward, Ok., and giving the proceeds to the poor went into the world to save the people.

THAT GENEROUS STORK AGAIN

Another Set of Quintuplets, This Time From New York.

Syracuse, N. Y., May 25.—"Is it a boy or a girl?" John Hale, of Collamer, asked the nurse.

"Four of them are boys and one is a girl," was the answer that made John Hale gasp.

The quintuplets were all perfectly formed and seemingly healthy. In the absence of sufficient natural nourishment, however, it became necessary to administer cow's milk, and three of them died as the result. The two survivors are doing "fine."

The index catalogue of the surgeon general's library at Washington, according to physicians, contains records of only nineteen similar cases. And, curiously enough, a case has just been reported from Clark county, Wisconsin.

RETAILERS CURB PATRON'S BUNCO PLAN

One Scheme of Domestic Economy Explained By Expose That Implicates Woman—How Some Kept Up "Front."

Special to the Democrat-Sentinel.

Chicago, May 25.—Here is the answer to your wonderment as to how Jones can afford to bedeck his wife in handsome hats and ermine cloaks at the charity ball and how the Smiths were able to furnish their home, where they gave the big New Year's reception, with oriental rugs of the most expensive kind and rare bric-a-brac.

The hats and the cloaks, the rugs and the bric-a-brac you saw perhaps went back to the big retail store next day, were credited to their account and perhaps had to be sold in the basement at a big reduction because of the damage done.

This is part of the system of buncoing the department stores, an expose of which has disclosed many secrets of domestic finance practiced at the expense of the big retail houses which now they are beginning to check.

In the Woman's World for June the whole system is exposed by Charles Heming Barbour, together with the steps devised for preventing the impositions which fertile wits and doubtful consciences have made enormously expensive to the big retailers. Woman—gentle woman—is shown up as a more shameless offender than man. One particular case related is this:

"A girl sat on a wire-legged stool before a long mirror in the millinery department of one of Chicago's foremost department stores. She was young, pretty and tastefully dressed. On her blue-velvet lap lay her 'old hat,' in its way a confection of last winter. She had already tried on eight others, varying in contour from a Merry Widow sailor with eight inch brim, to the most chic of Parisian toque—a mere puff, kiss and rosette of chiffon.

"Do you mean to say," pursued the girl on the stool, "that there are women who would be so—so low as to wear a hat and then return it?"

The saleslady lifted her eyes from the toque in her hand.

"Oh my, yes, often!" she exclaimed. "But if one has the hat charged?" the girl insisted.

There was a savor of the shapely, black-clad shoulders. "Then it is the company's loss," was the answer. "The hat must be either re-lined or go to the basement."

"And be sold ever so much cheaper?"

"Oh, yes, indeed!" Whereupon a most illuminating expression passed over the arch countenance of the girl on the stool. An instant she hesitated as if in doubt, then:

"I'll take this one," she said, and proceeded to thrust the pins into her old hat. The name she gave was one well known in commercial Chicago, and the address on a North Side street, itself bespoke the social plane on which the maiden moved.

"Charge and send," she said, and gathering up her blue serge skirt in a little chamios gloved hand, she moved away in the direction of the elevators.

But the hat came back. It came back with a dozen pin holes in the lining, but, worse than that, with two through one of the quills. Quite as a matter of course Josie showed it to the manager of the department who, with a quick glance, uttered a single word—"Basement!"

At the head of the main aisle of every department there stands a mahogany desk presided over by two girls. On a Monday morning in June of last year credit slips were issued in the amount of $2,694.28!

But the retailers have not been idle. They have begun to bring this kind of bunco game to a halt. Here is one of the methods, as related in the Woman's World:

"Sliding back the mirror door of a cedar-lined, moth-proof cupboard—(the best lines of ready-made clothing are no longer piled on counters) he took down from its nickel hanger a silk-lined frock-coat and waistcoat marked to sell for $45.

"See that," he said, and held out the sleeve.

"And the tag was not sewn on the sleeve with easily cut and as easily substituted thread. It was wired on and where the two ends of the wire met was a neat, sealed lozenge of solder!

"A Charley-boy wouldn't cut much of a pie at an at-home wearing a frock coat with that label on the sleeve, would he?" inquired my friend, and added musingly: "I wish I had $10 for every young man who has led his lady-love to the altar in a coat borrowed from us, before we devised that little deterrent."

"And he told me how it had come about that the label was adopted. The gentlemen who rent dress suits and frock coats for a livelihood had forced the issue. Their business was suffering, and small wonder, for who among us would pay real money for one evening's use of a dress coat, when the same was to be had for nothing. And that these clothes renters were in the right was clearly established by the boom their business received immediately following the adoption of the soldered label by their unconscious rivals."

Quite in keeping with the foregoing is the record made by four out-of-town relatives of a prominent attorney, who, at his funeral, expressed the grief they felt by wearing black costumes—including hats—which were returned, within three days of the obsequies, and on which credit was allowed.

Nor is it only to give grace to funerals that entire costumes are thus "borrowed" from the stores, but with equal sang froid does milladi secure party gowns, theatre coats, indeed, anything that may be useful for one occasion and returned. It is the same, Mr. Barbour says, with vases, cut glass, draperies, statuary and bronzes, to say nothing of the thousand and one lesser articles, such as necklaces, rings, combs and belts.

"Indeed," says Mr. Barbour, "I am informed by a man whose name in trade is known from one end of America to the other, and whose department store experience dates practically from the inception of the idea, that it is quite the customary thing for the stores to have their spotters in the cloak-rooms and galleries on the occasion of charity balls and such general functions for the purpose of watching and noting the adornment of various suspected customers of the stores in order that the offenders may be, so to speak "Caught with the goods."

CHARGES OF FRAUD MADE

COMMISSION MERCHANTS ENTER UPON BIG JOB OF HOUSE CLEANING.

CHICAGO MARKET MEN OPENLY ACCUSED

Stinging Arraignment of Crooked Houses in an Eastern Magazine—Device by Which Profits Are Swelled.

Special to the Democrat-Sentinel.

Chicago, May 25.—Flagrant crookedness of produce commission interests of South Water street, the second largest produce market in the country, with which they are accused by Forrest Crissey in Everybody's Magazine for June, has been taken up by the National League of Commission Merchants for investigation, and a great house cleaning is at hand.

Just now the commission men are busily establishing claim to exception from the severe general arraignment which was modified by the statement, "There are, of course, honest commission men in the produce business, many of them, but their standards are not the standard of the market street," and their practices are not representative of the practices which have prevailed for many years to the extent of dominating the business."

Mr. Crissey cites cases to illustrate his caustic charges that shippers and growers of produce all over the country are victimized. The poor man hundreds of miles away and the widow are shamelessly robbed by the "crooked" houses, he says. He adds: "An important element in the game is the fact that in most states the laws permit the agent of a transportation company to make a forced sale of any rejected shipment—and that without recourse or remedy so far as the shipper is concerned."

"The history of a certain car load of potatoes originating in a small town in the Wisconsin potato belt illustrates one phase of the device. This car was directed, on order at Chicago, to a provincial city in a southern state. The value of the potatoes was $217, and the freight was $158. The buyer made a peremptory rejection of the potatoes, and the agent of the transportation company last handling them sold them to a local buyer for $150. In the course of the litigation which followed, the fact was established that the man who bought the potatoes from the transportation company's agent sold them for $343. No diagram is needed to show how pleasant and profitable a business in the exchange of favors these two men—or any two men similarly situated—could drive with the weapons of rejection and forced sale in the hands of the transportation agent. And in this case the shipper was out not only his whole car of potatoes, but also the difference between the full freight bill and the amount realized by the forced sale.

"The ingenuity displayed by the crooks of the produce business in devising new tricks which will take the big end of the shippers' proceeds is little less than diabolical in its cleverness. Here is one of the most up-to-date schemes, which has been successfully worked in Chicago:

"A concern sends out letters to dairy farmers and small creameries, offering to pay a fancy price for butter—one or two cents above the market. After the butter arrives, either no accounting is made for it or it is rejected. A dispute is established, with the result that a check for an amount much smaller than the price agreed upon is finally sent to the shipper. If he is normally unsuspecting, he accepts the check as a payment on account, believing that the balance in dispute is a matter for later adjustment. He cashes the check at his local bank. In doing so he is, of course, obliged to put his endorsement upon the back of the check. Ultimately, when he renews the fight for the balance due him, he discovers that the pitting upon the check is so worded that his endorsement constitutes a receipt in full for his claim."

SHERIFF SHIPP IS HELD

RESPONSIBLE FOR A LYNCHING
BEE IN HAMILTON COUNTY TENNESSEE.

CONDUCTED BY FEDERAL SUPREME COURT

Prisoner Was Hanged the Night Before Justice Harlan Granted a Stay—The Proceeding Is Very Unusual.

Washington, May 25.—The case of John F. Shipp, sheriff of Hamilton county, Tenn., and nine others charged with contempt of the supreme court of the United States in connection with the lynching of Ed Johnson, a negro, at Chattanooga, in March, 1905, was disposed of yesterday in an opinion by Chief Justice Fuller, which directed that an attachment issue for Shipp, his deputy, Gibson, and the defendants, Williams, Nolan, Padgett and May. The information as to Deputy Sheriff Galloway, Justice and Ward was dismissed.

The charge of contempt against Sheriff Shipp and his co-defendants was due to the fact when Johnson was lynched he was constructively in the custody of the court. Only a month before the negro had been found guilty of an attack on a woman and had been sentenced to death.

The supreme court had taken cognizance of the case by granting an appeal from the decision of the United States circuit court, denying him a writ of habeas corpus, which effected a stay of proceedings in the convict's case. The appeal was allowed March 19, and that night Johnson was taken out of the jail at Chattanooga and hanged.

This action was strongly resented by the court and immediate complaint was made to President Roosevelt, who ordered an investigation by the department of justice. That investigation resulted in the attorney general filing in the court in May, 1906, an information in which Shipp, nine of his deputies and seventeen other persons were charged with complicity in the lynching—Shipp and his subordinates by absenting themselves from the jail on the night of the tragedy and the others by actual participation in it. All pleaded innocence.

The case aroused much interest in the south, because not only of the exceptional character of the proceeding, but because of Shipp's popularity and the character of Johnson's crime.

Justice Harlan exercised special activity in bringing the lynching to the attention of the authorities. He had been the first member of the court to take notice of the offense and he seemed to feel keenly the indignity to the court implied by the lynching. Deputy Clerk Maher, of the court, was sent to Chattanooga as a commissioner to investigate and take testimony. The investigation failed to connect with the crime seventeen of the men implicated, and the cases against them were dismissed at the beginning of the present term.

The chief justice presented a complete review of the Johnson case. He concluded that neither Shipp nor his deputy, Gibson, had made any effort to prevent the removal of Johnson from the jail, to prevent his killing after he was taken out or to discover the participants in the lynching. The ruling was made returnable Tuesday, June 1, when it is supposed Shipp and his co-defendants will be arraigned in the court and receive sentences.

It will lie with the court to determine the degree of punishment. A term of imprisonment for each is among the probabilities.

Justice Peckham delivered a dissenting opinion, declaring that there was "not the slightest testimony to support the charge against Shipp." He did not therefore believe that official should be subjected to the possibility of "disgraceful imprisonment," and made an earnest plea against such a course.

Justice Peckham concluded by asserting that Mr. Shipp, whom he described as "an invalid old man," had been "held to a degree of responsibility far beyond any reasonable limit." He also held that the testimony against Deputy Gibson, who was the jailor, was insufficient to convict him of contempt. Justices White and McKenna concurred in the dissenting opinion.

NEED PROPER FOOD

NOURISHING DIET NECESSARY FOR GROWING BOYS.

Dishes Prepared for Them Should Have Blood, Bone and Muscle-Making Properties—Beef the Most Nourishing Meat.

Three elements are essential in food—blood-making, bone-making and muscle-making properties. And while it would be ridiculous to state that boys require nourishment more than girls, it is true that the former need a larger quantity and are more dependent on their food.

Beef in any and all forms, except fried, should be regarded as a staple, and though it is expensive, some of the cheaper cuts, such as round, are equally nourishing and quite as well flavored as tenderloin. The very cheapest grades, provided they are good quality, can be made into hamburger steak, which, when flavored with onion and salt, and made into little cakes, is delicious. A stew, properly seasoned, is to be despised by no one. A change is hot roast, most nourishing and not expensive.

Mutton is the next most desirable meat, and fresh pork, if thoroughly cooked, and of good quality, may be eaten twice a week, but not often, for it is too rich. Veal is not particularly nourishing, that is, in comparison to the two first meats.

Macaroni, noodles and beans in various forms should be eaten often, for they contain a great amount of nutriment. Potatoes have their place, but not at every meal. Rice and hominy, both the fine and the "samp," should be alternated. Beans, as already said, are especially desirable. There are ways of cooking them in oil in which they are a meal in themselves.

White flour should be abolished in favor of "unbolted," graham and those others from which the greater part of the nourishing properties have not been refined.

Certain sweets are as important in the daily dietary list as bread. Rice pudding cooked for many hours with milk is a staple article which almost every person likes. Baked apples and apple sauce are nourishing, as well as supplying some of the sugar required by the system. Prunes have the same value. Bananas are nourishing when they can be digested, and if eaten with salt rarely cause any disturbance.

Fried bananas may be served as a vegetable. They should be done in just a little butter. Cheese, by itself or as seasoning, should have frequent place on the table. Molasses judiciously employed, as in Indian meal pudding, is excellent.

In all cooking it is to be remembered that a frying pan should never be used when any other cooking implements may be substituted. More good food is ruined in it than is saved, and constant eating of grease is extremely bad for the digestion.

Milk and cocoa are two liquids to be drunk in quantity—that is, at almost every meal.

Cereals of the old-fashioned kind should appear at every breakfast. Oatmeal, cracked wheat, hominy, cornmeal mush or something similar should always be served. Sausages occasionally are good for breakfast, but it must be remembered that they are extremely fat and any great amount will upset the digestion. Eggs are among the luxuries, but when eaten may be boiled or poached.

Growing boys require meat twice or three times a day, unless they are given a good substitute. There are vegetable dishes which answer admirably in every way, but they should be served only at one meal.

HIS FIRST RIDES IN AUTO

"Whoa," Cried Man of 99, When His Hat Was Blown Off.

Canton, Ill., May 25.—"Whoa," shouted Nelson Raker, 99 years old, when his broad-brimmed hat blew off while he was taking his first automobile ride from his home, twelve miles southeast of this city.

"If I ever get that hat again, I'll sit on it," he concluded. Mr. Raker and his wife, 89 years old, accompanied by their son, who is 64, the latter's son and granddaughter, four generations in all, were brought to this city in the large touring car of Van Beverly a merchant.

Mrs. Raker lost her handkerchief, but requested that no stop be made to recover it, and her husband, on arriving in Canton, said it was the best ride he ever had had.

In the evening they attended a moving picture show, also the first experience of the kind for the old people, and Mr. Raker, although nearly blind, said he "liked it fine."

GETTING A GORILLA

VICIOUS STRUGGLE WITH ANIMAL IN AFRICAN JUNGLE.

Brute's Enormous Strength Enables It to Break Bonds and Slay Member of Party Trying to Capture It.

Capt. Fritz Duquesne, the Boer ivory hunter, was commissioned by a German naturalist society to capture one of each species of African quadrumania. He was entirely successful in the work, except that he could obtain no gorilla, he writes in Hampton's Magazine under the title "Hunting Ahead of Roosevelt in East Africa." Finally a pigmy pointed out a portion of the dark jungle in which a gorilla had been seen.

"For four days," continues the captain "we camped in this hotbed of disease. Beaters went out in all directions searching for the gorilla. At last some deep, wide scratches were found on a cluster of vines. On close examination the unmistakable hair of the gorilla was found on a broken twig. After some hours we found the tree where the gorilla lived. We could tell it by the greasy appearance of the bark, made so by the repeated rubbing of the gorilla's body. We could tell by the fresh marks, with sap still wet, that the animal had recently ascended the tree. The scratches were short and deep, showing that it had lifted itself up and not slid down, which would have made a long, shallow scratch.

"We spread a strong net around the tree in a circle sloping upward on the outer side. Around the top of the net there were drawn ropes from four directions held by half a dozen natives hidden in the bush. These were to bring the top of the net together, and thus bag our game.

"After waiting some hours the leaves above rustled and then opened as a six-foot male gorilla descended unsuspectingly and entered the trap. I signaled, the four ropes were pulled at once, and we had our animal—for a moment. He roared in fury, twisting, jumping and biting the rope into pieces. The natives were pulled about like dolls as he tried to reach first one and then another. The professor jumped about in excitement, trying to focus a camera on the infuriated animal.

"At last the mighty arms of the gorilla broke a hole through the net and he tore the rest from him as though it were a rotten rag. Most of the natives fled in dismay. The professor dropped his camera and tried to escape; in a moment the gorilla grasped him in its terrible hands.

"I seized my rifle and fired in the air to frighten the animal. In my position I could not shoot at him without hitting my friend. For a moment the gorilla stood still holding the now unconscious man as though he were a baby, the brute's lips drawn back from his glistening teeth. I thrust another cartridge in my rifle. As I did so there was a buzz in the air and an arrow shot by a native pierced the gorilla's side. A roar burst from his red throat and he dropped his victim. Like a flash, before I could shoot, a native sprang from the leaves, and, half throwing, half thrusting, drove an assegai into the gorilla's heart. With a groan the brute fell dead.

"Examining the professor, I found that his right arm was broken and that some of his ribs were crushed into his lungs. We gave up the effort to get a live gorilla, and placing the injured man in a hammock, carried him back toward the east coast. He died on the road. Out on the veldt beside a native village a lonely little slab marked 'Carl Bloch' sticks up above the grass. Hunting is not all exciting adventure and laughing victory. It has tears, like other things."

KICK OR BE GENTLE

PROBLEM EACH MAN MUST SETTLE FOR HIMSELF.

Mr. MacQuillitbee Somewhat Puzzled Over the Proper Course to Pursue—Much in Selecting the Right Time.

"Do we," said Mr. MacQuillitbee, "get more by kicking for what we want or in the long run do we get more by being patient and waiting?"

"This is a question that each of us must settle for himself and it is, I suppose, largely a matter of individuality, of temperament. Some men are natural, hardy, able kickers, who kick for what they want and get it, and some of us are timid and non-aggressive, no kickers at all, and so it might seem that really this is a question not worth discussing, that will settle itself automatically in each case according to the man.

"Still there are many men not natural fighters, but who have in them a spark of fight, to whom this question of whether to fight or not must often recur. Shall I kick against this injustice or these cold plates at the boarding house or this poor pay? Shall I kick against any of the many things that may afflict us or shall I be patient and wait for this thing to right itself? This to many a man who may be gentle but who takes life hard may often be a very grave question and very hard to settle.

"People do respect us more if we don't lay down and let people walk on us, and we know that if we are content to be sat on, but what are we going to do about it? Are we going to kick or be patient?"

"There is much in knowing when and how to kick, for there are men who kick blunderingly and futilely, and then there are men who kick gently and kindly and yet with an evidence of reserve power and resolution behind the kick that brings respect and results.

"I am speaking now, you understand, not of the natural hardy kickers who with abundant ability to back them stride in and kick with vigor and power, getting what they want because they can make good, but of the multitude of men to whom, as I have said, whether to kick or not may be a grave question. These men must consider, and it may be that they do spend many trying days and nights in considering, whether they shall stand up and fight or let things go.

"These must have a clear cause, and they must know when to kick and how. If they succeed they take a step up, and then with broader resolution and greater strength, if they have got the stuff in them, they keep on. If they fail their case may be worse than before. It is a grave question for many people.

"As to many things that may not be purely personal we commonly leave the kicking to be done by other people; and in their kicking we may find much relief, but as to whether we ourselves shall kick or be patient, whether we shall try taking the bull by the horns and take the chance of being tossed, or sit down and wait, why, that still remains a question that each man must settle for himself."

Old Custom Under the Ban.

The custom of rewarding success on the dramatic stage with calls before the curtain has long been a thing of the past in some of the European theaters, says a Frankfort paper, and this has caused much heartache among those footlight heroes and heroines to whom it was a joy and a delight. This ancient mark of appreciation was a recompense for many tribulations, and in the houses where the rules now preclude it one great incentive to best effort is missing. At the Lessing theater in Berlin the actor now has a fellow sufferer because of restrictive rules as to the popular author. Formerly, when a new play was put on for the first time and well received, the author would be called before the curtain between the acts, and these calls were frequently prolonged. The new rule forbids this, and the audience may cry "Author" ever so vigorously, but he dare not show himself until the final curtain has fallen.

Need for More Playgrounds.

Twelve vacant lots have been secured by a number of New York women for playgrounds in the upper West side of the city, the Riverside branch of the New York Municipal league being the petitioning party to the city aldermen. Mrs. Clarence Burns is also asking for the playground in the name of the Little Mothers' Aid society. Mrs. Burns is a well-known clubwoman. It is reported that most of the arrests among the children of New York are for playing on the streets or in forbidden places.

S.S.S. NATURE'S TONIC

The very great majority of persons need a tonic in the Spring or early Summer. The system undergoes a change at this season and the entire physical machinery is disturbed. The general bodily weakness, a tired, worn-out feeling, fickle appetite, poor digestion, a half sick feeling and a general run-down condition of the system, show that the blood is weak or anaemic, and a blood purifying tonic is needed to build up the deranged system and enrich the blood. The use of S. S. S. at this time may save you from a long spell of sickness, and it will certainly prepare you for the long, hot Summer. Many people have put off using a tonic until the system became so weakened and depleted it could not successfully throw off disease germs, and have paid for the neglect with a spell of fever, malaria or some other debilitating sickness. S. S. S. is Nature's ideal tonic. It is a composition of the extracts and juices of roots, herbs and barks which science and experience have proven are best fitted for a tonic to the human system. It contains no minerals of any kind and is therefore perfectly safe for persons of any age. S. S. S. tones up the stomach and digestion, rids the system of that tired, worn-out feeling, and imparts vigor and strength to every part of the body. It purifies and enriches the blood, stimulates the secreting and excreting members to better action, quiets the overstrained nerves, and makes one feel better in every way.

TO SERVE WITH TEA

FRUIT CAKE AS IT SHOULD BE PREPARED.

Full Directions for the Compounding of Delicacy That Will Be Highly Appreciated by the Visitors of the Afternoon.

Use three-fourths of a pound of butter, three-fourths of a pound of brown sugar, one-fourth pint of molasses, 1½ pounds of raisins, one-fourth pound of citron, one-fourth pound of figs, one-fourth pound of almonds, three-fourths of a glass of wine, three-fourths of a glass of brandy and 14 ounces of flour.

One pound of butter, one pound of sugar, one pound of flour, 12 eggs, one-half gill of brandy, one nutmeg, one-half teaspoon of cloves, two teaspoons of cinnamon, 1½ pounds of raisins, 1½ pounds of currants, one pound of citron. Chop part of the raisins fine. Beat the butter and sugar to a cream, whisk the eggs until thick and add them by degrees. Then add the brandy and flour with the spice, and lastly the fruit. Mix all well together. Paper your pans and put in the mixture; spread it smooth with a knife and bake in moderate oven four hours, says the Philadelphia Inquirer.

Take one cup of butter, 1½ cups of brown sugar, one-half cup of sour cream, two cups of flour, three eggs, one pound of seeded raisins, one-half pound of currants, one-fourth pound of citron, one teaspoonful of soda, same of cinnamon, one-half nutmeg, one-half teaspoonful of cloves; chop the raisins, slice the citron very thin and have the currants all washed beforehand; set the butter where it will get soft, but not melt; beat the eggs until the whites and yolks are well mixed, then add the sugar and beat until very light. Add butter and beat thoroughly; measure the flour, dredge the fruit with one-fourth of it and mix all the fruit and spices together. Dissolve soda in a teaspoonful of warm water and add to the cream; then add the cream to the butter, sugar and eggs; add the flour, mix well, mix the fruit in thoroughly, last. This makes one large or two small loaves, and will keep a year.

Weigh one pound of butter, one pound of light brown sugar, one pound and two ounces of flour, two pounds of dried currants, two pounds of ordinary seeded raisins, two pounds of sultanas and 1½ pounds of citron cut into strips. Measure one gill of cream, one-half pint of brandy two tablespoons of ground cinnamon one each of mace, cloves and allspice. Grate two nutmegs. Break a sufficient number of eggs to fill a pint measure. Rub the butter and sugar together, but do not beat them. Whip the eggs until perfectly smooth and thick and stir them with the cream into the butter and sugar, adding one-third at a time and working until perfectly smooth.

Mix the flour with the spices and the fruits until they are evenly distributed; then add them to the mixture and stir lightly together. Add one tablespoon of orange-flower water and beat the whole vigorously. Bake in a moderate oven for three hours. Do not turn out of the pan until cold, then rub lightly with flour and wipe off with a dry cloth and store away until needed. This cake is improved by age, and many persons make them a year ahead of time.

MOB WAS BADLY FOOLED

HOW LAWYER WHO SHOT WIDOW KEPT FROM BEING HANGED BY LYNCHERS.

PRETENDS SLIGHT WOUNDS ARE MORTAL

Crawls Under Barn After Being Followed by Posse in All-Night Chase—Bloodhounds Put on the Trail of the Man.

Lima, O., May 25.—John W. Beam, a lawyer and real estate dealer, who killed Mrs. Estella M. Diltz, a young widow, saved himself from a mob when captured yesterday by smearing his body with blood from a few trivial wounds and affecting fatal injuries.

Five hundred men had assembled at the county jail and another mob waited at the city prison. Beam had been trailed by bloodhounds for thirty-six hours. At daybreak, when his pursuers were close upon him, the slayer crawled beneath his barn and fired three bullets into fleshy parts of his body. Shortly afterward a posse was led to the spot by bloodhounds, and Beam, supposed to be dying, was rushed to a hospital.

Beam, who is under indictment for land frauds, forgery, burglary and larceny in connection with his real estate operations, shot Mrs. Diltz to death in her own doorway Saturday night. He was in love with the widow and she had threatened to prosecute him to recover property he held.

Mrs. Diltz had just returned home with her brother, when Beam, taking advantage of the noise from a train rumbling along near by, slipped unheard into the house. As Mrs. Diltz was ascending a stairway to her bedroom the lawyer fired a bullet into her body, and as she came tumbling down the stairs he fired four more shots.

As he fled from the house he encountered a passerby who knew him. The fugitive turned while running to fire at him.

An alarm was sounded immediately and a posse headed by policemen was in pursuit of Beam in less than half an hour. The trail led to the outskirts of the city and thence in a circuitous route around the edge of the town.

After the posse had searched the neighboring farm lands and woods all day Sunday, it was believed they had Beam surrounded in a thicket.

Bloodhounds were taken to the scene and took up Beam's trail, following him in a path skirting the city until the lawyer's home was reached. The dogs ran baying from Beam's house to his barn, 100 feet away.

When the lawyer was dragged into the open it was thought he was dying. In his hand he held a revolver, and his head was covered with blood. Word reached the mobs that were in the city waiting to receive him that he had cheated them by suicide. It was said he could not survive the wounds he had inflicted on himself.

Members of the crowds that had been waiting in the streets all Sunday night to avenge the widow's death watched Beam's covered body carried into a hospital without any demonstration. All talk of lynching ceased and the crowds dispersed.

Examination by doctors soon showed that Beam was not dangerously wounded and he had feigned unconsciousness. He had fired bullets into his limbs and body in such a manner that they could not reach a vital spot. He had covered his head, face and breast with blood from these wounds, and with the grime he had gathered under his barn, he was hardly recognizable.

Mrs. Diltz, a handsome woman, came to Lima from Waynefield, O., two months ago. She became acquainted with Beam through real estate transactions, and he collected rents for her. It was said that their friendship ripened Beam became intensely jealous.

Because of Beam's reputation and the accusations that had been made against him, the killing immediately aroused many citizens to a violent temper. Charges for planning a farm robbery, for which three men were sent to prison, are pending against Beam in the courts. He was awaiting trial on the charge of forging a deed to the widow's farm and several other cases are against him on the docket.

When it was proposed that he be lynched when captured by the police posse, mobs formed, one to wait for him at the jail and the other at the city prison. It is feared the citizens will make another attempt to lynch the prisoner when it is known now he duped the mobs.

Safeguard of Health Free

The army and the navy are the safeguards of the nation, but the individual body also requires its safeguard. By twenty years' use in American homes of every shade and degree of wealth and intelligence, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has been acclaimed "The Nation's Safeguard of Health."

No remedy but a laxative could win this laurel, for the stomach and the bowels are the basis of all health, and Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is for the stomach and bowels. Parents are giving it to their children today who were given it by their parents years ago. It is not only a wonderful cure in constipation, indigestion and dyspepsia, sour stomach, heartburn, flatulency, torpid liver and such complaints, but it contains wonderful tonic properties that build up the muscles of the stomach and intestines so that they again work normally and naturally. It is especially adapted to the uses of women, children, old people and all others who need a gentle laxative and who cannot stand violent salts and cathartic pills. This has made it the family laxative and it can be obtained of any druggist at 50 cents or $1 a bottle, with the guarantee, but if you are a stranger to it and would rather try it free before buying, send your name to the doctor and a free test bottle will be sent to your home. In this way tens of thousands of people are learning to use Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Louis Edwards, of Potosi, Miss., wrote the doctor as follows: "I believe in Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. I will never use any other medicine for stomach troubles. The sample has convinced me of its merits." Now you use it, either in the free trial of the regular 50 cents or $1 bottle, and you will soon share Mr. Edwards' opinion. If there is anything about your ailment that you don't understand, or if you want any medical advice, write to the doctor, and he will answer you fully. There is no charge for this service. The address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 509 Caldwell bldg., Monticello, Ill.
